150A Cedar Creek Rd, Upper Kedron

Valley Views from the deck

559m2

This is a larger block in booming Upper Kedron.

The right design home will have great views over the valley beyond. The lot does have some challenges though. You will need to be creative with your house design to accommodate the slope and there is an energex electricity box on the street side. Not really such a problem when you consider that your living and entertaining will be focused around the views.

There are many homes currently under construction within this boutique estate that will showcase just what is possible and how to make the most of the views and the land

The land is currently undergoing subdivision and registration is imminent.

You can walk over and look at the land at any time and experience the views first hand.

We have house designs from local builders for this lot available on request
